Llamayu is the time for harvest, is the time when.....

The sun is located closer to earth, and her celebration (IntiRaymi), it is one of the great manifestations of the andean memory and identity.

It is celebrated during and after the Winter Solstice and it is abundant of expressions and ancient symbolisms.

Llamayu is time for harvest, it is the time when.....A tribute and gratitude is done to Mother Earth (Pachamama) for the harvest received, the ripening of fruits.

The shamans purifies and renews the energies.

The time for harvest, it is the time when.....

People thank the interconnection between Man and Creator

The time of harvestis whenthe bridge is crossed to start again.....
